

Product End of Life Notification

July 30, 2009

This letter is notification that the current version of Socket CF Card with Bluetooth Wireless Technology will be End of Life (EoL) on September 30, 2009.

EoL Plan

The plan is to EoL the current version of CF Bluetooth card due to the EoL of some key components used by the product. Socket is working with customers to make the last-buy commitments. We are working with our component supplier to accommodate the last-buy demands of our customers. Once the commitments and the inventory are exhausted, the CF Bluetooth card will no longer be available for purchase. Customers who have already confirmed purchase order(s) with shipping schedule(s) in place are not affected by this notification. All new orders will be fulfilled on a first come first serve basis with the following last time buy conditions:

- All new orders must be placed by August 31st, 2009, pending product availability
- All shipments must be completed by September 30th, 2009
- Only non-cancellable non-changeable orders will be accepted
- All orders are FOB Newark, California

Why is the current version of the CF Bluetooth product going EoL?

Some key components of the CF Bluetooth card product are no longer available from the suppliers.
